

Master of Education in Teaching and Learning

The Master of Education (MEd) in Teaching and Learning is designed for professionals seeking advanced studies in education. The program supports students' development as scholarly practitioners through coursework and a comprehensive portfolio, which includes an applied research project. The program examines teaching and learning, with an emphasis on culturally responsive education, in Alaska and similar contexts. In consultation with a faculty advisor, each student identifies a professional concentration related to professional practice and career aspirations.
