

Graduate Certificate in Executive Leadership

Upon completion of this certificate, students will be able to:

- Describe characteristics of leadership in settings at the organizational, team, and individual level.
- Critically analyze and apply the foundational methods and theories of organizational behavior science to appropriate work situations as a leader and follower.
- Integrate critical thinking to inform professional leadership issues.
- Identify and evaluate leadership styles, theories, and approaches and consequently practical applications.