

Collaborative Graduate Programs

The UAA offers students the opportunity to earn a graduate degree through collaborative programs with other institutions. A portion of the coursework, internships, practicum, and fieldwork may be taken through UAA while other program requirements are fulfilled through the collaborative institution. The degree is granted by the collaborative institution.

Master of Clinical Health Services (MCHS) (<http://catalog.uaa.alaska.edu/graduateprograms/collaborativegraduateprograms/physicianassistant/>)

- Physician's Assistant collaborative program with University of Washington

Medical Doctor (MD) (<http://catalog.uaa.alaska.edu/graduateprograms/collaborativegraduateprograms/medicine/>)

- WWAMI School of Medical Education, collaborative program with University of Washington

Doctor of Occupational Therapy (OTD) (<http://catalog.uaa.alaska.edu/graduateprograms/collaborativegraduateprograms/occupationaltherapy/>)

- Collaborative program with Creighton University

Doctor of Pharmacy (PharmD) (<http://catalog.uaa.alaska.edu/graduateprograms/collaborativegraduateprograms/pharmacy/>)

- Collaborative program with Idaho State University

Program Key

Code	Description
MCHS	Master of Clinical Health Services
MD	Doctor of Medicine
OTD	Doctor of Occupational Therapy
PharmD	Doctor of Pharmacy