

Alcohol Use During University Authorized Travel

Alcohol use is permissible for individuals of legal drinking age during university-related travel and field work. Such individuals must abide by all local laws and may not be visibly intoxicated. Specific program policies may further restrict alcohol use. The Chancellor or their designee have the authority to adopt more restrictive policies.

For students, this includes, but is not limited to, travel by students or student clubs and organizations participating in University-authorized travel, faculty-led programs, courses with field trips, athletics, research programs, study abroad programs, exchange programs, etc.

For employees, this includes, but is not limited to, university-authorized travel, conference attendance, field research, faculty-led research, archeological field sites, university outdoor excursions, courses with field trips, courses at off campus locations, exchange programs, study abroad programs, recruitment trips, etc.