

Associate of Applied Science in Medical Assisting

The Associate of Applied Science (AAS) in Medical Assisting prepares students to work as entry-level medical assistants. Medical assistants are multi-skilled allied health professionals specifically trained to work in ambulatory settings, such as physicians' offices, clinics and outpatient care centers. These multi-skilled personnel can perform administrative and clinical procedures.

Admission Requirements

- Complete the Admission Requirements for Associate Degrees (<http://catalog.uaa.alaska.edu/academicpoliciesprocesses/admissions/undergraduate/>).

Special Considerations

Prior to beginning MA A295, students must provide documentation of the following:

- Immunizations:
  - Annual TB screening using the Mantoux method or PPD two-step testing process:
    - the first step must have been completed within twelve (12) months prior to the commencement of the student's supervised, clinical experience; and
    - the second step must have been completed within one to three weeks after the first step was administered
  - Hepatitis B immunity
  - Hepatitis B series, two MMRs, two varicella, or proof of immunization
  - Current influenza vaccination
  - Other immunizations specifically required by the practicum clinical site
- Current Basic Life Support (BLS) certification
- Completion of State of Alaska criminal background check and fingerprinting
- Some practicum clinical sites may require additional documentation such as a drug screen; each requirement is site-specific

Additionally:

- Medical assisting courses are sequenced and only offered during certain semesters
- Students are strongly encouraged to maintain personal medical insurance
- MA A295 is a required course. It is a 6-week/240 hour commitment to full-time on-the-job education that is non-remunerated (unpaid).
- Individuals who have been found guilty of a felony, or plead guilty to a felony, are not eligible to take the CMA (AAMA)® examination; however, a waiver may be granted by the American Association of Medical Assistants (AAMA) Certifying Board in cases of mitigating circumstances.
