Associate of Applied Science in Outdoor Leadership

This program is delivered only through Prince William Sound College.

The Associate of Applied Science (AAS) in Outdoor Leadership prepares students to work in dynamic tourism, outdoor education and recreation. It is focused on teaching readiness for leadership, the benefits of outdoor recreation, the evaluation and mitigation of risk, technical backcountry skills, and expedition planning.

Admission Requirements

 Complete the Admission Requirements for Associate Degrees. (http://catalog.uaa.alaska.edu/academicpoliciesprocesses/ admissions/undergraduate/)

Special Considerations

Students may need to rent or purchase additional equipment for courses. Many courses in the program are conducted outdoors in extremely cold and/or inclement weather conditions with significant physical demands.
